The Drought Seems to be Over, So Why are Allocations Still Being Considered?

Speakers:

Jerry Johns, Deputy Director, Department of Water Resources

Meeting Topic:

Deputy Director Johns will review how the SWP and CVP determine their annual water supply allocations, factors that can impact the ultimate allocation, the recent history of annual allocations, the impact of the recent Biological Opinion on the SWP and CVP, how much of the current reduced allocation is due to drought and how much to ESA enforcement, the date by when DWR will issue final allocation amounts, and how Southern California could be impacted by another year of reductions.
